

[style guide]

DISCOVER RESORT STYLE BY OSWALD HOMES

“Sanctuary and well-being”

Envision the perfect island getaway and you'll immerse yourself in the Resort style. Imagine sitting by a private pool in a tropical destination, drink in hand, with lush palm leaves blowing in the soft breeze. You see, we all travel so much these days whether it is Kota Kinabalu, Bora Bora or the Maldives and our greatest wish is to bring the five-star resort lifestyle home with us to Perth.

Prepare to welcome a fusion of indoor and outdoor elements as the natural environment effortlessly flows into every space. Still ponds and pools complimented with lavish greenery embodies the look of alluring resorts from all around the globe, creating a tranquil place to escape from our busy lives. The pared back interiors consist of a simple white based palette that is complemented by timber or stone features that oozes serenity and opulence. The outcome is a five-star resort home, a luxury getaway for our day-to-day lives.

Making it our own

Think of Resort style as a blank canvas that's ready and waiting for your artistic interpretation. The ideal backdrop for the furniture designs, art, colours textiles and accessories of the day, it's a style that you can truly make your own. Exploring everything from luxurious linens, medium tone timbers and rattan furniture, designers relish the opportunity to work with the clean lines and open spaces of a Resort home. Indoors and outdoors are seamlessly connected, while ceilings and extra-tall stacker doors accentuate light, space and volume.

Design details

Pavilion style homes have laid the foundation for much of the Resort style architecture in recent decades. The design is simple – box-like volumes with expansive glass in consideration of the surrounding environment, along with open-plan interiors for modern living and an informal lifestyle. Open-plan design allows uninterrupted sight and movement through spaces and the transparency of the house immerses the occupants in the surrounding natural landscape, diminishing the barriers between indoor and outdoor living. It's all about pared-down simplicity - rather than added decoration or adornment – as the home becomes both independent of and entwined with the natural surroundings.

Finishing touches

Let the Resort style evoke the tranquillity of an endless holiday spent in a private villa. Think pared back palettes incorporating timber, stone and white. Timber creates the base palette with all pieces throughout the home featuring timber, mixed with rattan. Stone is the next layer, suggesting nature and opulence featured on the walls and floors. White brings the freshness and relaxing feel through white sheers, white shutters, benchtops and cabinetry. This style combines true relaxation and sophistication.

If you like this style, you may also like...

The sleek, uncluttered lines and polished interiors of a Contemporary home.

The barefoot luxury and traditional finishes of a Coastal Plantation home.

to get the look, we love

- Eco Outdoor, Osborne Park, ecooutdoor.com.au
- WG Outdoor Life, Osborne Park, wgoutdoorlife.com.au
- Cosh Living, Osborne Park, coshliving.com.au
- Empire Homewares, Osborne Park, worldofempire.com

